

Wall Buttons

Wall Buttons are a great addition or alternative to your Personal Help Button. They can be placed anywhere in the house as long as it is in range with the In-Home Base Unit. Typically, they are placed where falls are likely to occur for added protection, like the bathroom or staircase.

It's great for people who forget to wear their Personal Help Button or who don't want to wear a button at all.

Wall Button Location Suggestions

In the Bathroom

The bathroom can get slippery and increase the chances of a fall. Place a Wall Button low inside or outside the bathtub or anywhere else in the bathroom.

Near the Stairs

It is easy to miss a step and get hurt on the stairs. Placing a Wall Button near the bottom or top of the stairs.

Next to the Bed

Since wearing a Personal Help Button to sleep can trigger false alarms, we suggest place a Wall Button near the bottom of your bed.
